

Where Ideas Make Waves

What is Narconia?

www.narconia.com

We connect peoples' projects with talent and investors. Through Narconia.com, creators can build a team to bring their projects to market. If a project makes money, the proceeds are divided between the participants based on the value of their contributions.

Narconia retains a small percentage for providing the service.

Narconia Core 3

We categorize everyone's skills and passions into 3 portals to help them make money.

Proposal Pool (Next Slide)

Creators come here to have their proposals rated by the community.

Work Zone

Professionals come here to offer their services to projects they're interested in.

Marketplace

Investors come here to buy/sell project shares or buy/license projects.

Proposal Pool

1. People propose a project that they think the Narconia community can help to realize
2. People will be able to view, like/dislike the proposal, or post comments depending on the privilege rights set by the creator.
3. If a post gathers attention from the right people, and is considered legal and ethical, it can apply to become a Narconia Project.

Creators that manage to convert their post into a project get a non-diluted ownership of the project and by default a cut of any money it makes!

Narconia.com retains a small ownership percentage for helping to complete the project by providing a community of talent and investors.

Work Zone

After a proposal gets approved by Narconia to become a project, people can come here to find work on projects that interest them.

Call to Work (A Project Asks the Community)

Creators or their project managers can create a call to work. This calls for certain skills or talent to solve a problem or push the project forward.

Request for Work (A Professional Asks a Project)

Passionate professionals can request a way for themselves to contribute to a project. Creators or their managers can approve, counter, or decline.

Compensation negotiations can be in project shares per week, cash per hour, a salary, or even on donation terms.

After a proposal gets approved by Narconia to become a project, people can come here to invest in projects that interest them.

Call for Funds (A Project Asks the Community)

Creators or their project managers can create a call for funds. This calls for investment funds needed to solve a problem or push the project forward.

Request to Fund (An Investor Asks a Project)

Passionate investors can request a way for themselves to contribute funds to a project. Creators or their managers can approve, counter, or decline.

These negotiations can only be a trade of cash for shares in a project or a donation.

Marketplace (cont.)

Trade Project Shares (Investor to Investor)

Very much like the stock market, investors can buy and sell shares of a Narconia approved project. This provides the project with a real time market valuation.

Bid on a Project (Investor Asks Project Shareholders)

Investors can place a bid to buy all of a project's shares and/or license any associated assets. Project shareholders vote and decide by majority whether the bid and the terms are acceptable or not.
